

Permitting Passengers to use cell phones on planes is a bad, irresponsible thing to do. It will make the cabin hectic, and unruly. Passengers rarely listen to my IMPORTANT safety announcements and permitting cell phones will make it worse. I will find a new career if it is approved. It is an accident waiting to happen. For years people have had to wait to talk to whomever they need to until they get to the ground, they can continue to wait. If you permit cell phones you may as well eliminate the flight attendant position, we will lose control over the cabin. Think about it.
